My Journey

I am currently a student at Oregon State who decided to change careers. I have worked in hospitality and management in the past, but it was time to turn a new leaf. I had built my own computer and this inspired me to learn how to use a computer to its full potential. After Oregon shut restaurants down I began my journey of becoming a software developer, and I am currently in my second year. My goals include becoming a full-stack developer who is flexible within multiple programming styles. I hope to hear from you in the future.

I updated the classes I have taken and changed some of the descriptions on both my Handshake and resume. However, I did not realize I didn't have all the classes I have taken on Handshake and updated all of them. I also didn't realize I didn't have any of the course codes entered for my classes on Handshake. So, I spent some time updating all of the old classes as well so that their codes would be present. I also took a new picture, but I want to update this again soon, as I had a headshot taken not long ago. I am just waiting on them to be emailed to me.
